ArchaeoBiograms (AB). The Internet Database and e-Library on History of European Archaeology

Abstract

ArchaeoBiograms (AB) is a practical tool from the field of Digital Infrastructure Supporting Archaeological Research. It consists of two modules: a database and an eLibrary; both of them contain more or less the same data on life and work of European archaeologists and their collaborators: specialists from adjacent disciplines, technicians and outstanding amateurs archaeologists). The database delivers the standardized, structured and unified set of information on a chosen person while the eLibrary contains full, original text of publications devoted to this person.

The AB eLibrary is already available on the Internet at: www.muzarp.poznan.pl
